Report Current at Falls Rebel

Message from Washington
Deferred Conference
Last Night.

SAY THAT HUERTA IS TO QUIT

Tentative Protocol Now Being Drafted
by the Diplomats for a Provisional Government.

Niagara Falls, Ontario, May 28.—There is a report current here that Carranza is ready to accept the peace plan of the mediators and that Huerta is planning to retire from the presidency and to name his successor.

Coupled with these rumors is an understanding among observers that the new provisional government will be very similar to the old government in the Philippine Islands. The mediators and Mexican delegates, however, decline to discuss that matter.

Following the receipt of a message from Secretary Bryan by the American delegates, the joint conference, which it was expected would be held tonight, was postponed. Further development, it is said, will depend largely upon Carranza's final answer to Secretary Bryan's demand that he agree to an armistice. This reply is expected tomorrow.

Huerta will name his own successor when he retires from the Presidency. The post of minister of foreign affairs is the one being filled temporarily by the under secretary, Ruiz. Before Huerta was assassinated he was compelled to appoint Senor Lascurain as foreign minister. Lascurain served thirty-six minutes, naming Huerta as his foreign minister. With the resignation of Lascurain Huerta became provisional president.

Gen. Carranza, leader of the constitutionalists, tonight is the most important factor in the Mexican situation. Senor Lascurain is waiting for the mediators to decide whether the constitutionalists will be permitted to send delegates to the peace conference before he asks instructions from his government. In a statement issued the other day the Mexican delegates made it clear that they would not agree to the participation of the constitutionalists in the conference without submitting the question to Huerta.

It is the opinion of those close to the mediators that Secretary Bryan has already informed Carranza's representatives that the constitutionalists must agree to the armistice. It is known that the Mexican delegates will offer no opposition to the constitutionalists sending delegates to Niagara.

Advices received here indicate that Carranza has been told in no uncertain terms that he will be ignored in the future unless he sends envoys to Niagara to ratify the tentative protocol that is now being drafted.

Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann were in constant communication with the White House during the day, but they did not come to the Canadian side for a conference with the mediators.

CONGRESS IN BRIEF.

SENATE.

After hearing Secretary of the Navy Daniels, the Senate Naval Affairs Committee proposed an amendment to the naval appropriations bill providing for the sale to a foreign power, presumably Greece, of the battleships Idaho and Mississippi. It was specified that the proceeds should be used in constructing a big new battleship.

A resolution calling upon the Attorney General for an opinion as to whether the control by the New York Central of four lines from Buffalo to Chicago and two from Chicago to New York was in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and why he had not prosecuted the New York Central was introduced by Senator Norris of Nebraska.

Speeches on the tolls question were made by Senators Oliver, of Pennsylvania, du Pont, of Delaware, and West of Georgia. The first two opposed and the last favored repeal of the tolls exemption clause.

Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, read from the testimony of an investigating commission the charge that the du Ponts after obtaining the specifications from the government for the manufacture of smokeless powder of high armor piercing quality sold that powder to foreign governments. La Follette demanded the passage of the appropriation for extending the government's factory at Indian Head, Md., so that the United States could manufacture all the powder it needed for its army and navy.

HOUSE.

Debate was continued in the House on the anti-trust bill, but slow progress was made, only four of the twenty-two sections being read. Republican efforts to amend the administration measure were unsuccessful so far as material amendments were concerned.

An amendment was written into section 2 which prohibits any mine operator from refusing to sell his product to responsible buyers. This section was amended to include all wells.

Representative Aswell, of Louisiana, introduced a bill to impose a prohibitory tax upon gambling in cotton futures, the bill being similar to the Lever bill now pending.

The House adjourned until 11 o'clock today.

BRYAN DOUBTS LANDING OF ARMS FOR HUERTA; BADGER IS CERTAIN CARGOES WERE DELIVERED; OIL INTERESTS REFUSE TO EMPLOY AMERICANS

The Navy Department last night issued the following statement:

"After making every effort to verify positively the reported landing of arms by the steamers Bavaria and Ypiranga at Puerto Mexico, the department has been unable to confirm the rumor and, in view of all the circumstances, is disposed to await a confirmation that the landing of the arms actually took place. The only facts known to the department in regard to the Ypiranga are that the steamer arrived at Puerto Mexico, in the regular course of her itinerary and landed a considerable cargo of some sort during the day. Rear Admiral Badger has been requested to secure more definite information."

When it began to dawn upon Washington officials yesterday that the receipt of these large shipments of arms and ammunition by Huerta might have an effect upon the mediation program itself there were evidences of alarm.

HOPE REPORTS ARE FALSE.

Secretary of State Bryan apparently insisted upon retaining the hope that the reports of the landing of munitions might be a mistake after all. It was plainly a painful subject of conversation for Mr. Bryan and he insisted that positive confirmation of the report is lacking.

Other officials of the government lacked Secretary Bryan's spirit of hopefulness.

The Navy Department received a dispatch from Admiral Badger which indicated that there was little doubt in his mind that the arms had been landed. An unofficial report reached the department, too, that a large portion of the war supplies had already been shipped to Cordoba. Admiral Badger's information was based chiefly on reports from the commanding officers of the Salem and the Tacoma, United States war vessels at Puerto Mexico.

Washington realizes that the additional supplies may give Huerta strength for

PLUNGES INTO RIVER; SAVES DROWNING BOY

Oscar Kluth Rescues Warren Sadler,
Who Is Revived by Pulmotor.

CARRIED MILE ON SHOULDERS

Oscar Kluth, eighteen years old, plunged into Eastern Branch of Miller's Wharf, at Twenty-eighth and M streets northeast, late last night and saved Warren Sadler, sixteen years old, from drowning. With the help of several other boys, after first-aid treatment had failed to restore Sadler, they carried the boy upon their shoulders for almost a mile to Fifteenth and H streets northeast, where they notified the Casualty Hospital.

Young Sadler was rushed to the hospital, where with the aid of the pulmotor he was resuscitated. The boy had been playing on a scow off Miller's wharf and fell into the water, which is about twelve feet deep at that point. His cries attracted Kluth, who ran to the end of the wharf and saw the boy struggling. Kluth dived into the stream, but before he could reach Sadler he noticed the boy had stopped struggling and had disappeared under the water. When he reached the boy by a dive Sadler was unconscious. Sadler lives at Cottage Hill, D. C.

APOLOGIZES FOR ENGLAND.

Conan Doyle Sorrow for Nonparticipation in Price Fair.

New York, May 28.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the English author, who, with Lady Doyle, is paying a short visit—the first in twenty years—to this country, was entertained this afternoon at luncheon by the Pilgrims of the United States.

In his after-dinner luncheon Sir Arthur felt obliged to apologize for Premier Asquith's neglect in not taking part in the Panama-Pacific exhibition in 1915. "In the olden days," said Sir Arthur, "our motto was: 'England expects every man to do his duty,' but nowadays Lloyd George has changed it to 'England expects every man to pay his duty.' The refusal of Premier Asquith to take part in your Panama exposition does not represent the wishes or the feelings of the country. It is generally admitted that our country has a great government, but it is not great enough to admit when it has made a mistake."

FRENCH BANK FAILS.

Paris, May 28.—Henry and Robert Duouville were arrested today as a result of the failure of their bank. Many prominent Americans will lose from this latest French financial crash. The liabilities of the bank are estimated at $3,000,000, and the assets at $600,000.

ALBANIANS BOMBARD DURAZZO.

Roma, May 28.—Albanian insurgents are bombarding Durazzo, the capital of Albania, and demanding the abdication of Prince William, according to a dispatch received by the Tribuna today.

BRADLEY GIRL TESTIFIES.

Mobile, Ala., May 28.—Dellah Bradley, who sloped from Pemberton, N. J., with Joel M. Foster, a millionaire, came here today and testified against Foster before the federal grand jury. Foster indictment against Foster is sought on a white slave charge. The girl was accompanied by her father, who also testified.

No Word from President.
Up to a late hour last night no report had been received from Gen. Funston in regard to the holding of the Hamburg-American liner at Vera Cruz under the demand that her commander produce her manifest.

There is nothing in American law to prevent consular changing the destinations of cargo.

Absence of a proper manifest, however, is punishable, and Gen. Funston is within his rights in detaining the Bavaria if she appeared at Vera Cruz without such a document.

One Cabinet officer stated last night that this government was under the impression that it had assurances from the Hamburg-American people that neither the Bavaria nor the Ypiranga would land arms and ammunition in Mexico. It was acknowledged, however, that there was no formal understanding with the German government with regard to the matter.

No break in the cordial relations with Germany is anticipated as a result of these developments.

HOSTILITY IN OIL FIELDS.

The Navy Department has been advised by Rear Admiral Mayo at Tampico through Rear Admiral Badger at Vera Cruz, that it is unsafe as well as unwise for Americans to enter the oil fields surrounding that port. Rear Admiral Mayo said that the oil concerns were refusing to employ Americans and did not want them until after the present complications were settled.

Admiral Mayo reported that he saw no signs of any constitutionalist demands upon foreign or Mexican owners of the oil concerns for contributions to the constitutionalist cause.

ALIEN GIRL Baffles THOSE WHO AID HER

Lost Emigrant Spoke Dialect that Was Unintelligible.

Y. W. C. A. WORKERS GAVE HELP

A lost emigrant girl wandered through the Union Station for thirty minutes yesterday morning, pleading piteously for help in a strange foreign tongue that none could understand. She was not more than eighteen, and her head was tied in a silk shawl.

She had come to America expecting to find relatives waiting for her in New York. When the station guards here were unable to understand her strange dialect they telephoned for Miss Florence M. Brown, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., who, with several co-workers, went to the girl's aid.

The Y. W. C. A. agents first went to the State department, where they tried to find an interpreter who understood her language. Failing there, the girl was then taken to the Russian and the Austro-Hungarian embassies, but even there no one knew her language.

She had a number of papers on which was evidently written the details of directions to find a brother-in-law. After the fruitless efforts at the embassies the Y. W. C. A. workers took the papers to fruit vendors, barbers and other foreign traders, but as a last resort to the Pension Office, where parts of the directions were interpreted.

A telegram was immediately sent to the brother-in-law at Despatch, W. Va., and a ticket to that place purchased by the Y. W. C. A.

When she parted from those who had befriended her last night her only words were "No goodbye." She did not want to leave them.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE

Progressives Call on Roosevelt to Find Out Where They Stand.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 28.—In the most important political conference in which Col. Roosevelt has participated since his return it was decided today at Sagamore Hill that rather than face almost certain defeat in the coming State gubernatorial election the Progressives would endorse any Republican candidate whose political character and ideals were acceptable to the Bull Moose party standards.

For instance, it was cited, that the Republicans nominated for the governorship, Harvey D. Hinman, of Binghamton, or a man of the same caliber and character, the Progressives would endorse him.

In this most important conference in Col. Roosevelt's library were Theodore Douglas Robinson, Judge Ransan, Chauncey Hamlin, of Buffalo; Frederick Davenport, who was the Progressive candidate for the lieutenant governorship, and Francis Bird, New York County chairman.

These men called upon Col. Roosevelt tonight on the eve of his departure for Europe, and asked him point blank to let the New York State Progressives know just where they stood and what they were working for.

PROF. LANGLEY'S NOTED AERO ACTUALLY FLIES

Original Machine Carries Added
Heavier Than Air Weight of 300 Pounds.

FLOWN BY GLENN CURTISS

Hammondsport, N. Y., May 28.—By rising from Lake Keuka under its own power today, Langley's famous old aeroplane demonstrated its ability to do more than its gifted designer expected of it. Not only did the original machine fly, it also carried passengers and attachments weighing some 300 pounds beyond Dr. Langley's calculations.

The pontoons were added here to enable the machine to be launched from the water. In previous trials the Langley aeroplane was launched from a catapult on top of a houseboat and the flying machine was broken in the attempt to launch it.

This was the first successful man-carrying aeroplane built in the world and its ability to fly has been a disputed question for the past decade.

It was flown today by Glen H. Curtiss. The trials were observed by Dr. Charles D. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution; Dr. Albert F. Zahm of the Smithsonian, and most of the inhabitants of Hammondsport and vicinity.

A puff wind, disconcerting to the most modern machines, and the erratic performance of the old motor cut the trials short after the first demonstration of the machine's ability to raise itself from water.

The machine was the original Langley machine and not a duplicate. No changes have been made beyond replacing the old motor with new and substituting new ribs in the wings in place of those broken when the machine was thrown into the Potomac eleven years ago.

PRESIDENT MAY GO ON STUMP IN PENNSYLVANIA

Representative Palmer Invites Him.
Senator Thomas Also Wants
Him in Colorado.

Plans for President Wilson's participation in the coming fall Congressional campaigns were under consideration yesterday. Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, the Democratic Senatorial candidate in Pennsylvania, and Senator Thomas, who is again a candidate in Colorado, both saw the President. While no definite arrangement was made, it is believed certain that the President will make speeches in behalf of each of them.

The Pennsylvania campaign is to take on national characteristics. Col. Roosevelt will stump the State for his friend, Gifford Pinchot, the Washington party's Senatorial candidate, and will assail the Wilson policies. Senator Penrose, the Republican candidate for re-election, will make his fight on the tariff issue, and the President will take the field and answer both assaults in person.

It is understood to be the present intention of the Democratic leaders to use the President for only half a dozen set speeches during the campaign.

The opinion today reverses Judge Dayton on every point and sustains the rights of the miners to organize. The opinion was written by Judge Fritchard.

HAZING VICTIM DIES; FIVE CADETS ACCUSED

Fellow-students of William R. Bowles
Must Answer Murder Charge.
Their Bail Increased.

Annapolis, Md., May 28.—After lingering for two and a half days, during which the attending physicians realized there was but a slim chance of his recovery, Cadet William Raymond Bowles, of Middletown, Md., victim of the hazing escapade at St. Johns College, Monday night, died at the Emergency Hospital this afternoon, where he had been a patient since the unfortunate affair.

With his death, a pall fell over the historic St. John's. The gloom and sympathy for the relatives of the dead lad is general about Annapolis and, in fact, extends throughout the State. Nothing so tragic has ever been apparent today at St. John's. It was early apparent today that the injured cadet could not live much longer. He passed a very uncomfortable night, and about 4 o'clock this morning it was thought that death was imminent, as the patient suffered a severe sinking spell.

He rallied somewhat, but even then the attending physicians held out only the barest hope that he would pull through. Fortunately he did not, and he was then only a question as to how long his vitality would prolong the end. He expired at 7 o'clock. The parents of the young man, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Bowles, and also an uncle, E. S. Bowles, who graduated from St. John's several years ago, were at his bedside when he died.

The five freshmen held on bail will now have to answer the charge of murder. Their bail has been increased from $1,000 to $5,000 each.

The board of trustees of the college tonight began a probe of the death of Bowles and of the hazing conditions generally.

WILSON NOT EXPECTED AT MEMORIAL SERVICE

President Eliminated from Arlington Cemetery Program by
G. A. R.

Since President Wilson has not yet changed his mind in regard to speaking at the memorial exercises at Arlington tomorrow, it is taken for granted in Grand Army circles that he does not intend to observe the custom of every one of his predecessors in the White House.

The committee of the Department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic, in charge of arrangements for tomorrow, held its final meeting last night at Grand Army Hall, Pennsylvania avenue, near Fourteenth street northwest. The President was entirely eliminated from the program.

Dr. J. K. Gleeson, department commander, surprised the old veterans present when he announced that the department, as an organization, had not received an invitation to attend the unveiling of the Confederate monument on June 4. He said he had received a personal letter inviting him, but that nothing was said therein about the organization. He added that he would not attend, although he reminded the others that they were at liberty to go. It was predicted that no Union veteran would attend.

Under these untoward circumstances hope on both sides for a grand reunion of the old fighters from the North and South upon common ground seems impossible of realization either tomorrow or on June 4.

President Wilson has not canceled his engagement to speak at the Congressional unveiling, so it is supposed he will be there.

So many Union veterans of the Department of the Potomac have died in the last year the department has not so well equipped financially as in the past for the annual memorial service over the graves of their comrades, and unless something is done very soon some of the crippled old warriors will have to walk to Arlington to participate in the decorating ceremony.

The committee found that short of transportation funds last night, with many members unprovided for and unable to pay their own transportation. The committee requests the use of automobiles to carry these comrades to the national cemetery at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning from Grand Army Hall.

They say they are at war against the Mexicans, whom they accuse of robbing them of their lands. The report states the Indians attacked Cumpis and massacred 60 Mexican men, women, and children, who attempted to defend their homes.

FOREIGN TRADE MEN TO BOOST U. S. INDUSTRIES

Name Committee of Seventy to Promote Merchant Marine.

WILSON PRAISES SPIRIT

Action of Convention Follows
Talk by President at the White House.

URGE RECIPROCITY TREATIES

Increased Appropriations by Congress for Trade Promotion Functions
Sentiment of Delegates.

Definite action in establishing and promoting a new and greater American merchant marine was taken by the national foreign trade convention at the Raleigh yesterday when the convention passed resolutions authorizing the formation of a national foreign trade council of seventy members, and urging Congress to place American industry on an equal footing with foreign competitors by permitting trade combinations for foreign commerce.

This step followed the reception of the delegates by President Wilson at the White House, where he warmly indorsed the get-together spirit of the convention, and assured his visitors of his earnest desire to co-operate in the development of American foreign trade and the rightous conquest of foreign markets.

The delegates then went back to the Raleigh Hotel and decided upon a clean-cut plan of action. Altha B. Johnson, president of the convention, was authorized to appoint the foreign trade council of seventy members. The convention was pledged to support any and all measures necessary to increase the scope and efficiency of the consular and diplomatic service. Increased appropriations for the trade promotion functions of the Department of Commerce were also endorsed and the President was urged to negotiate reciprocity treaties for the extension of foreign trade.

This accomplished, the convention—perhaps the most important of its kind ever brought together in this country—adjourned.

Secretary Bryan's speech at the trade banquet on Wednesday night, pledging the support of the administration in the foreign trade movement was regarded as a sign of deep encouragement for the merchant marine propaganda.

Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester Company, had luncheon with President Wilson yesterday, prior to the conferences with the trade delegates. The delegation was presented by Edward N. Hurley, vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association. James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, was the first delegate introduced to the President.

President Gives Address.
The President said: "I had hoped that Secretary Redfield would put into my ear what I could send to you, for I cannot claim to be an expert on the subjects you are discussing. I am sure he expressed the feeling which I would wish to express, which is the feeling of encouragement that is given by the gathering of a body like this for such a purpose. There is nothing in which I am more interested than the fullest development of the trade of this country and its righteous conquest of foreign markets."

"I think that you will realize from what Mr. Redfield has said to you that it is one of the things that we hold nearest to our heart that the government and you should co-operate in the most intimate manner in accomplishing our common object. One of our members just now said something in my ear about the merchant marine, and I am sure that I speak the conviction of all of you when I say that one of our chief needs is to have a merchant marine, because if we have to deliver our goods in other people's delivery wagons their goods are delivered first and our goods are delivered incidentally on their routes. This is a matter I have had near by my own heart for a great many years. It was only by authority of my parents that I was prevented from going to sea."
